The road from Madrid

The shortest road is by following the E90-N11 until you reach Medinaceli.

There, you have to take the N111 to Almazán.

Avoid Soria by taking the C101 shortcut, passing by Gómara, Almenar, a small strip of N234, then take a left for Jaray, and then back on the C101. Follow this road to Ágreda.

Then, take a short piece of the N122 in the direction of Tarazona, and after 3 miles/5 km, take a left to Cintruénigo (N113). Here, there's already a sign for Pamplona.

At Alfaro, you can choose between Péage (A15) and the N121 to Tafalla.

Drive to Tafalla to take the left in the direction of Estella (NA132).

After ca. 60 miles/37 km, you'll come to a long descent and a roundabout.

At the roundabout, take a right for Pamplona (A12).

After a few miles/kilometers, take the exit for VALLE DE YERRI

-Cross the roundabout, drive under the bridge of the highway, and at the second roundabout, go straight on in the direction of Lacar/Arizala.

-Now, you're on the recently constructed NA7320 road. Caution! On many GPS systems, this road is not yet featured!

This new road leads near Lacar, and passing by Alloz, with some highs and lows.

Just keep following this road for the next five miles/ eight kilometers (measured from the A10).

Then, you'll come to a roundabout. (This is near Arizala). Take a right here, in the direction of Pamplona (NA700). Follow this little road for some four miles/ six kilometers, until you see an arrow saying RIEZU 600m.

Follow this road until the road narrow when you enter the village; on your right at the square, you'll find our house with the wall and cast iron fence:
